Sea World Comes to Marvin

Sea World Assembly

By Nika Bordbar

On January 15, 2015, Marvin Elementary had an assembly about Sea World. The assembly happened in the school's auditorium. Sea World employees came to present what they do at the park and how to help land and marine animals.

First, they presented a video about Sea World and after they asked some questions. Then they explained what would happen during the assembly.

A video about a funny penguin was shown and then they brought out a real penguin. It was held at first, but then was allowed to walk around by the students. He waved goodbye as it left and many students waved bye back.

We then watched another video about a dolphin named T.J. Later they picked four volunteers, Haley Cummings, Lily Glazebrook (both 5th graders in Schreiber's class) and Aiden and Carter (also 5th graders in Johnson's class). The workers explained as the volunteers demonstrated how to save a turtle. The turtle was a very big stuffed animal.

Next, they brought out an eagle owl which flew up and down the aisle. Lily Glazebrook's dad, Todd Glazebrook, handled the owl and walked around the auditorium with it for the students to see it. She was making a loud, scary, cawing noise. After the owl, Sea World presented two otters. They made squawking noises. They were on a leash and walked around the auditorium. Mr. Schreiber got picked to go on stage and let an otter pet him. So the otters had to go and waved and again, students waved back. After the otters left, Sea World presented one more video

Marvin's Library

By Maya Burrus Edited by Samantha Soto

Here at Marvin we have a library. I interviewed Mrs. Euler, the Librarian. First, I asked her what she does in her job. She answered "Helping kids understand the library and help kids find books." Mrs. Euler says that the most popular subject is fiction. One of the most popular books is Diary of a Wimpy Kid.

Mrs. Euler's favorite subject is fiction, and her favorite books are Adventures of Tom Sawyer, Frankenstein, Black Beauty, and The Wizard of OZ.

She and her fellow librarians, Tracy Wehrman, Wendy Strohmeier, Melody Quin, and Michelle Aston prepare activities and read books to the children.

Ms. Batakis: 3rd Gr Substitute Teacher

By Taylor Connolly & Malia Savage

On January 23, 2015, we interviewed Miss Batakis the new third grade teacher. Her full name is Julia Batakis. She was born here in San Diego, CA. She has only been teaching for 1 year. Another job she had was working as a baby sitter. The college she is currently going to is SDSU. She is cont'd p2

Mrs. Kang: 2nd Gr. Teacher

By Makenzie Wehrman and Maddie Walford

I had an interview with Mrs. Kang in her classroom during lunch. Mrs. Kang grew up in South Korea. Why does she like teaching you ask, she enjoys it. She has been teaching at Marvin since 1998. She prefers to teach Pre K through 2nd grade instead of 3rd through 5th grade. She has one brother and two sisters. That is Mrs. Kang's life.

Mr. Starling

By Zoe Womack

I interviewed Mr. Starling on January, 5, 2015 in the auditorium in the afternoon. He loves kids, and he has his own kids. He has P.E every day except Wednesday. He does P.E in the auditorium or in the dirt field. He has a certain way of doing things. He is kind and has the kids do stretches. Mr. Starling is a good P.E teacher.

studying to be a full time teacher. We asked her if she would rather go on vacatoin or teach and she said Teach. If she could teach any other grade it would be k-5th but her favorite grade is 2nd and 3rd because that is when the kids become responsible.

about a website called Generation Nature. If you log onto it, it raises money for animals.

The last thing Sea World brought out was an Eastern Screech Owl. The owl was really small. Her [the owl] name was Ruby. She had a broken wing that could never heal. That was the end of the assembly. When students walked out of the assembly, they had a chance to see Ruby up close. That concluded a fun assembly that talked about Sea World, and how and why the organization takes care of land and marine animals.

When no one is around Mrs. Euler and her colleagues plan ahead for upcoming weeks, clean the library, and decorate. Mrs. Euler's job is very important at Marvin. The library is the place where you find good books.
